Our rugged, ragged coastline has been photographed by thousands, everyone seeking to find beauty which no other has discovered. Forrest Cornwall in his wanderings through the country side, often happens upon seldom photographed areas, such as this photo looking toward Point Lobos.

"MUCKRAKER" DEDICATION

Saturday, while thousands of "flower children" were keeping time to the beat of "their music" at the Pop Festival in Monterey, making news for their generation, a group of journalists met quietly at the LaPlaya Hotel in Carmel to pay homage to a truly great man who reported the news and came to the aid of the under privileged and socially unaccepted through the magic of his pen. The man was the undisputed "muckraker" Lincoln Steffens.

At this ceremony where a plaque was erected in his honor at the place he lived for nine years, The Getaway, located on San Antonio in Carmel, his son Pete Steffens was on hand to accept the plaque in memory of his father.

"And when I say thank you," Pete Steffens said during the program, "That's in triplicate . . . for me, my father, and my mother, too." His mother, now residing in London, England, wrote her son in regard to the presentation of the plaque and honors bestowed on her husband. Pete Steffens read this letter at the ceremony, which reads as follows:

"It is very moving to me in London to know that a plaque is being installed in "The Getaway" in Carmel, where Lincoln Steffens and I lived the last nine years of his life. They were his most serene years, and possibly his happiest. He loved the house as he loved no other he had lived in. One day, soon after moving into it, on the balcony overlooking the shining blue Pacific, he said to me: "

"This is where I'm going to die."

I'd like to say a word about how we came to acquire this house, and how it came by its name.

"We had arrived from France in 1927, on a trip to the U. S., partly to see the wonderful new America Jo Davidson had told us about, Oklahoma's E. W. Marland and all that at Ponca City; partly because Steffens was most eager to show me his California, the Golden Gate, his sister's ranch (near Santa Barbara); and of course proudly to exhibit his little son, the most wonderful child in the world . . . now merely Assistant Professor of Journalism.

"We came to his sister's house on 850 Francisco Street, saw and marveled at the beauties of the Bay Area, and wandered down to the little seaside village of Carmel to give the little boy beach and sea. We rented the Sandbox on Scenic for six weeks. Steffens found old friends from his New York and Mexico newspaper days in Carmel: the Jimmie Hoppers and the John Kenneth Turners; and we soon met and fell in love with the whole Jeffers family, and the Jesse Lynch Williams. We looked, idly, at properties as one does, but we intended to go back to Europe. John Turner one day showed us a house on San Antonio . . . wooden and painted and furnished by two artists, and I exclaimed, "If ever we were to consider staying here, that's the kind of house I'd like." Without telling me, Steffens made an offer for the Botke house, and next morning early Turner came running up our garden path waving a telegram: "The house is yours!" he cried tri-

"Oliver" Tryouts Set For Tonight

Charles Dickens' story of Oliver Twist will be enacted on the Forest Theatre stage in August and September; but, at the moment all the parts in "Oliver" have not been cast, according to director and Sunset Manager Cole Weston.

"All parts are open," Weston said, "but what we primarily need are boys from the ages of 10-16 who must be able to sing." Weston pointed out that since the play has little dialogue and the flow of the production goes from song to song, singing is a very important asset toward being awarded a part. Tryouts will be held tonight at the Sunset Auditorium at 8 p.m.

"Several fine adult character roles are not yet cast," Weston said. Actually there are 11 adult roles and 14 children's roles to be filled. The Carmel Unified School District, who is co-sponsor of "Oliver" with the Carmel Cultural (Continued on page 16)

umphantly. "They've accepted your offer!"

"I was flabbergasted, nonplussed. We were going back to Europe weren't we?"

"And so we stayed in Carmel. Nine years we lived in this little old frame house. We made it over, planted a garden, and asked down Steff's old friends who came from all over the country . . . and we tried to think of a name for it.

"The name does not mean, to (Continued on page 8)

Council Gives City Employees Their Increases

Continuing with the ensuing problem of City employee raises, left over from last week's City Council Meeting, the councilmen had seven days in which to ponder the situation, resolving last evening how and to what degree these increases should be acted upon.

Instead of the 6% across the board cost of living increases discussed last Wednesday night, the Council approved the motion of Councilman Herb Blanks to give an increase of 3% across the board, based on cost of living; consider no step or range increase at the present; but authorize $6000 to be added to the contingency fund to provide for any merit increases which would be approved at a later date during the next fiscal year.

This was voted on with a narrow margin deciding in favor of this proposal. Councilmen Gunnar Norberg and Eben Whittlesey felt that since city employees' salaries had been increased up to 33% during the past 10 years, it was not in balance to the 17% cost of living increase during the same period. Whittlesey did give ground somewhat by pointing out that Carmel must keep up with the surrounding areas' pay scale, but could not convince himself that this across the board increase would be justifiable at this time.

Richard Ferguson of the Irish shop spoke from the gallery in favor of this increase commanding the Chief of Police for "a job well (Continued on page 16) activity, said she would appreciate the volunteering of a few more homes to meet the occasional emergency which might occur.

Mrs. Charles Dowell is in charge of supplying refreshments during rehearsal breaks. She needs more volunteers to serve. Also, she needs more cookies and cakes to be served during the breaks.

Other committee chairmen for the Festival are: Mr. Arthur Lehman—Transportation; Prof. John Brock—Front of House Manager; Mrs. Walter Jennings—Ushers; Mr. Fritz T. Wurzman—Advertising; Mr. Francis Lloyd—Program Sales; Mrs. Phioip Schneeberger—Festival Participant Party Coordinator; Mrs. Harwell Dyer, Mrs. Leonard Kleene and Mrs. Peter Farmer—Flowers for Sunset Auditorium and Recitals.

"LITTLE MARY SUNSHINE" TO PLAY AT STUDIO

Sharing the leads in "Little Mary Sunshine," opening Friday at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel, are Anne Brown as Little Mary and Lex North as Captain Jim. Miss Brown's previous musicals include "By Bye Birdie" and "Italian Straw Hat." Last fall she was named best actress at MPC for her role in "Death Of A Salesman."

North's international background spans theatre, television and motion pictures in England, Portugal and Australia, as well as this country. He was dance captain of the "Oliver" company in London and had a part in the movie "Tom Jones." For several seasons he was at the Pasadena Playhouse in capacities ranging from actor to stage manager and assistant director.

The secondary leads of Nancy Twinkle and Corporal Billy in the forthcoming musical are played by Kathy Holly and Ron Geren. After graduation from the University of Santa Clara, Miss Holly continued her vocal training at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. She has sung with dance bands and folk groups and appeared in numerous dramatic and musical productions. As a drama student at MPC, Geren took part in "The Hostage" and "The Lower Depths."

Dick Felty plays Chief Brown Bear following roles in "You Can't Take It With You," "Harvey," "My Three Angels" and others. Alfredo Valdez, an art major at MPC, was scenic artist for "Little Mary Sunshine" and has the part of Yellow Feather. Fleetfoot, the third Indian, is played by Carlo Grossman who has been in many Seaside High School shows and in "South Pacific" at the Naval P.G. School. Layne Littlepage who portrays

Mme. Ernestine von Liebedich was seen at the Studio in "Hay Fever" and "The Importance of Being Earnest." She has also been in productions at MPC and San Francisco State College. General Oscar Fairfax, (Ret.) is played by Michael Keller who also directed, staged and choreographed "Little Mary Sunshine." His last appearance in one of his own productions was in "Mr. Roberts."

The chorus of "Little Mary Sunshine" consists of Young Ladies of the Eastchester Finishing School and Young Gentlemen of the Forest Rangers. Libby Brown, younger sister of the lead, was in "The Indigo" at the Forest Theatre. Betty DeWitt appeared in two earlier Studio musicals, "Bye Bye Birdie" and "Oh Kay." Ellen Fielding acted in "Little Women" and "The Littlest Angel" at the Santa Catalina School, while Shawn Guild took part in "Hay Fever" and "The Importance Of Being Earnest" at the Studio.

Wayne Burke Kendall has acted extensively, most recently in "Ah Wilderness" at the Circle. A graduate of Pacific Grove High School, Roger Parkes was previously seen in "Never Too Late" at the Studio. Voted best comedy actor at MPC, Merle Smith was in three major productions there. James Trivette makes his stage debut in "Little Mary Sunshine."

With its colorful costumes and settings, its melodious tunes and its comic situations and lines, "Little Mary Sunshine" was greeted with rave reviews by the New York critics and brought its author-composer, Rick Besoyan, overnight acclaim. Walter Kerr, for example, said "I almost never see anything so easy and foolish and delightful on Broadway any more."

"Little Mary Sunshine" will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday this weekend, followed by "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" next weekend. Thereafter the two shows will play Tuesday through Sunday nights in alternate weeks to Labor Day, except that Monday, July 3, will replace Tuesday, July 4, as a playing date.

THE STUDIO

Just in time to take our minds off the weather, the hit musical "Little Mary Sunshine" opens Friday with a cast of 17 pretty girls and handsome men, a dozen catchy tunes, splendid voices to sing them, bright scenery, an elaborate old-fashioned front curtain, dashing costumes from red-coated rangers to feathered Indians, and a plot so winning in its utter simplicity that old and young alike will rejoice as it unfolds. After the reviewers finished cheering it, "Little Mary Sunshine" brightened the New York theatrical scene for several seasons and we predict it will cast a warm glow over the Monterey Peninsula all summer long. Friday, Saturday and Sunday this weekend at $6 for dinner and show, $3 for the show alone.

"Tell Her the Roses Were Your Idea, Father"

by Margot Hyatt

Meat in the sandwich of light summer fare offered by the Gold-Bough Players at the Circle Theatre on Casanova is "The Subject Was Roses" by Frank D. Gilroy. It is easy to understand why the play had such a long run on Broadway and why it won the five major awards of the 1965 season, no mean feat, as Director Norman C. McPhee pointed out in his introduction to the play.

"The Subject Was Roses" faces up to a situation common to many marriages in which children are the unintentional casualties in a war neither parent can win. In

WE ARE OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK

Paws for Comment

by Brandy and Pheemy

As told to Andre Hope

Dear friends, it has been a few years since we last talked to you on these pages. In the meantime we have been joined by Brandy's daughter, Champagne (Champy). She will probably have something to say from time to time about whatever lady dachshunds think. We are also being joined by our veterinarian who knows everything about all animals everywhere and mostly Carmel.

As for us, we are busy guarding the house, keeping blue jays away from our dove's nests (did you know doves are very sloppy housekeepers?) and keeping an eye on Burton Bunny, who is the patio social director. We also help feed the wild birds; once you start, don't stop, because they depend on you. The turtles Uno, Dos and Tracy take some of our time, too. Don't know what they're good for, but our mistress seems to like them for some reason. The rest of our column we hope you will help us with. We'd like to hear about your pets and see pictures of them. When you have questions, we'd be happy to answer them.

Something we'd like to tell you right this moment is please to take care of your pets during the summer vacation time. If you are a visitor, don't let them run loose without supervision. Last summer we had four strays in our yard who had to be returned and it was rather hard as only two of them had all their tags on. We can get just as lost in a strange town as can you. It's more dangerous for us, because we become confused and frightened and often have accidents or are abandoned. This summer we've already had to find a home for one beautiful errant cat. Next week we'll have much more to say about this subject.

We'd also like to remind our human guests that many of us are wild and no matter how cuddly we look, we are often frightened when someone tries to approach us or touch us, and might fight back, not knowing that you only mean to be kind. This is especially important where baby animals are involved. We protect our children just as you would. Oh, yes, and if, without meaning to, you might injure one of us, call the S.P.C.A. and wait until help comes.

Life is so very precious to all of us, including our friends who live in the sea.

Don't forget to write to us; "Paws for Comment" in care of the Carmel Pine Cone and tell us the story of your lives or ask any questions we can answer.

Meanwhile, remember, "An animal's best friend is his/her man/lady."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The first part of a program entitled "Students and Drugs" will be heard this Sunday on the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You" at 7:30 a.m. over station KGO and at 8:45 over station KDON. Do marijuana and LSD really help to expand thought or give the user a spiritual experience? Is there something better? Helpful answers to these questions will be presented.

get away from it all"—this neither Stef nor I ever wished to do; on the contrary, we both always wanted, all our lives, to get deeper into it all, this great life adventure of living. But what should we call it?

"Jack Black was our great friend, the ex-burglar who had gone straight because Fremont Older had rescued him from a life sentence in jail and asked him to cut out 'drink, drugs and crime.' Jack gave us our house's name. One day, he said: 'The one thing a burglar needs — any criminal, anyone on the wrong side of the law—is a getaway."

"That's the name," Stef cried out happily, that's it—that's what I want to provide for anyone on the wrong side of the law — A GET-AWAY."

"All his life Lincoln Steffens fought not only as a humanist for the underdog, the underprivileged—but also as a social scientist for the victims of injustice, inequality, the persecuted. He stood for the struggle of those we fight for today: the homeless, the poor, the Negro . . . the fighters against unjust wars.

"So our home, Steffens' last and my first in America, symbolized what he stood for, what I hope his name will always stand for."

Local Photographer Ranks High in Photo Competition

Hal Oliver, professional photographer of Carmel, has been honored as one of the 48 professional photographers who has been invited to display their works at the 15th Annual Western States Print Exhibit at the Ala Moana Center in Honolulu, Hawaii, June 19-28. According to PPC Executive Manager, Natalie Rokusek, Oliver's photos will be among the 200 prints jury-selected as outstanding among those entered in competition at the Annual Western States Print competition sponsored by Professional Photographers of California, Inc.

Oliver, a native of California, is a free lance photographer specializing in biological and medical work. "However," Oliver said, "I'd like to make my livelihood from photographs such as the ones I took in Guatemala last year (shown at right) if I could figure out a way to sell them."

He came to Carmel three years ago from Oakland where he had a studio at the Children's Hospital on the East Bay.

"Well over 500 prints were submitted and only 200 were selected to be shown, all being judged and selected by a jury," Oliver added. "I'm quite pleased that these two photographs of mine were among the few selected." He was awarded trophies for his entries representing the Court of Honor Medal and the PPC Award of Merit.

PPC President Jim Lusk said:

This exhibit, held in conjunction with the Western States Mid-Pacific Aloha Convention in Hawaii, will be the first showing away from the mainland and will provide an opportunity for business, civic and government leaders, as well as the general public to see the magnitude and scope of professional photography."

Over 450,000 visitors have been counted in a five day period in the Ala Moana Shopping Center where the showing will be held.

Welcome to our torture chamber.

The machine that looks like a wine press shown above is for testing the strength of metals, plastic pipe, fittings, castings and connectors. Here again the tests are to insure the reliability of your service.

The stretcher shown above works like an old medieval torture rack—but it tortures wire for a good purpose. Here we test the amount of strain a cable can take before it snaps. High cable strength is pretty important in a windstorm.

Our torture chamber is operated by our Department of Engineering Research in Emeryville. The extensive testing done here is only one of the many ways we work to serve you better.

Craft Studio Art Show Exhibits Over 50 Paintings

Right up to the very last minute local artists were hurrying to meet the deadline for submitting work at the Carmel Craft Studio Art Show held Thursday afternoon, all vying for merchandise prizes supplied by Studio Arts Supply.

As many as 50 paintings were displayed around the walls of the Craft Center waiting to be judged by three local, capable artists: Robert Davey, Jane Buffington and Reginald Machado.

For over a dozen years the Studio Art Supply shop has promoted this show beginning 12 years ago with a weekly showing. As time passed and the promoters saw that the artists had a hard time submitting paintings each week, they went to a monthly show, and later a quarterly competition. Organizer Fred Klepich mentioned that now with longer intervals, the paintings have improved, and the number of entries have increased.

Four prizes were awarded Thursday afternoon, and the winners were eligible to go into the Studio Art Supply shop to choose merchandise worth $25-15-10 and $5 depending upon their placement in the competition.

Grand prize winner for the afternoon was Ann Carlson of Carmel Valley who entered a beautifully executed water color done from memory of the Connecticut woods. Mrs. Carlson has studied painting since "I was a small girl on the East Coast." She moved here only three years ago and as of this time, "I have not shown in any Carmel galleries." Modesty prevailed, but Mrs. Carlson did admit she had studied with a number of capable East Coast painters.

She will have her blue ribbon and painting hung in the Craft Center for public viewing for one month.

Klepich mentioned that this show was organized over 12 years ago to give the artists a chance to meet one another. He said that over the years many artists met through this competitive show and have since become quite close.

All forms of art are welcome in this competition and although sculpture was not shown Thursday, it is encouraged quite strongly. No one medium ranks a special category . . . all are judged together and the winner can be oil, water color, pencil, or sculpture.

Klepich boasts that this is a "One Hour Show;" all entries must be in by 3 p.m. the day of the judging and the winner is announced by 4 p.m. All artists must be present to win.

Children Art Classes

An art workshop for children will open June 28th at the Sunset Center in Carmel.

This summer the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association, sponsors of the workshop, are expanding the classes to include children from the age of 5 through 12 years with Louise James as instructor.

There will be three classes each week, from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., for six consecutive weeks. The 5-7 year olds will meet on Tuesday, age 7-9 will meet on Wednesday, and 9-12 years on Thursday.

A wide variety of media and surfaces will be provided by the workshop, and individually introduced, to increase the ordered personal expression of each child. Oil crayons, acrylic paint, clay sticks and collage materials are among the media that can be applied to wood, stone, paper mache and three dimensional paper cut outs.

With a visit to the Museum, a walk in the community and spontaneous discussion, the children will be encouraged to seek art in their daily lives. Art history will be introduced to the 9-12 age group.

The workshop session will close with a party and an exhibition of the children's work.

A scholarship has been provided by the Friends of the Museum for a deserving student.

Registration for the classes will be on June 26 and 27 at the Museum on Lincoln, South of Ocean in Carmel. For further information please contact Stephen N. Brown or Jackie Bray at 624-2918, or 624-9314.

Reception Honors

John Cunningham

On Monday evening at the Carmel Art Association a reception was held in honor of John Cunningham's one man show of paintings.

Among the guests were many of the old timers, the pre-world War IIers; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Work, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herron, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Mr. Frank Work, and Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Norberg. They were all in agreement that John Cunningham paintings had a strong visual impact and the feeling of fine art. There are few other local artists who so conscientiously and successfully paint Point Lobos. There are over 20 paintings of Point Lobos on display.

The other subjects are scenes which he painted in Paris and Mexico. The one of the "Ship Pilot" was painted during the invasion of the Marshall Islands at Majuro while he was the Second Officer of a Danish attack transport. He was the only American officer on board.

"Hippie" Painters

At Sunset

Helen Dooley's "Straw Hat Hippie Painters" are once again braving the elements to bring to the Peninsula their unusual and inspirational paintings of our many local subjects.

This excellent group of professional and amateur painters will be under the guidance of Helen Dooley, as they explore subjects from Cannery Row, to Moss Landing.

The public is invited to come and "Be In" with them at their exhibit of the paintings and share the happy times. This showing is free to everyone on Sunday June 25th from 2:30 - 5 p.m. at Sun-set School.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jersey

Bridal shower and engagement announcement parties call for the best in decorations and fancy food. The purpose is a happy one and everything must be in the same mood.

The following little menu is suitable for such a luncheon especially when time is short yet daintiness is the keynote.

Bridal Shower Luncheon

Rose Fruit Punch
Chicken in Tomato Cups
Cheese and Pimiento Sandwiches
Egg and Avocado Sandwiches
Shrimp Pinwheels Tiny Hot Rolls
Strawberry Chiffon Dessert

Rose Fruit Punch *

One cup sugar; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water; 1 fifth Rose wine; 2 cups orange juice; 1 pint fresh whole raspberries; or 1 pkg. frozen ones; 1 qt. carbonated water.

Combine sugar and water. Bring to boiling point and simmer about 5 minutes. Cool; combine wine, fruit juice and sugar syrup. Add whole fresh berries or frozen ones partially thawed. Serve in large glass pitcher with ice cubes; add carbonated water. Garnish with fruit. Makes 3 qts. or 2 qts. without the soda water. Sliced fresh peaches, or frozen ones, may be used instead of berries and pineapple chunks are always delightful.

Chicken Salad in Tomato Cups

Two tbsps. vegetable oil; 2 tbsps. vinegar; 2 tbsps. finely chopped onion; 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ tbsps. salt; 1 tsp. curry

Reunion After Ten Years

Last week, Mrs. Judy Fryberger (the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Howard E. Bruegeaman of Carmel) visited her parents at home for the first time since her marriage in 1958. She has been with her husband during his duty tours on the Island of Malta, then Quonset Point, Conn., and later at the Pentagon in Washington.

Their three children Robin, July and Peter were with her and her husband, Lt. Cmdr. Fryberger. The family is now going to Okasuka, Japan. Lt. Cmdr. Fryberger will be operations officer for the destroyer squadron there.

powder; 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups cooked rice; 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups cubed cooked chicken; 1 cup chopped celery; 2 tbsps. chopped green pepper; $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise; 6 fresh ripe tomatoes; lettuce.

Combine oil, vinegar, onion, salt, curry powder and toss with rice, mixing well. Chill at least 1 hour. Remove stem ends from peeled tomatoes and starting at the top, cut tomatoes into fourths, cutting about 2/3 of the way down. Turn upside down to drain and chill. At serving, add chicken, celery, green pepper and mayonnaise to rice mixture. Serve in tomato cups on lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

Chicken and Pimiento Sandwiches

One cup firmly packed shredded cheddar cheese; 3 tbsps. mayonnaise; 1 pimiento, finely chopped; dash of Worcestershire sauce; 12 slices whole wheat bread.

Blend cheese, mayonnaise, pimento and sauce. Make 6 sandwiches by using two slices of bread for each. Remove crusts and cut into desired shapes.

Egg and Avocado Sandwiches

Two hard-cooked eggs; $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise; 3 tbsps. chopped parsley; 1 tbsp. minced onion; salt to taste; 1 avocado (just ripe); 1 tsp. lemon juice; 10 slices white bread; 5 slices whole wheat bread.

Press eggs through sieve. Combine with mayonnaise, parsley, onion and salt. Peel avocado; press through sieve, then mix with lemon juice. Trim crusts from bread. Spread white bread with mayonnaise, then spread egg mixture on 5 slices. Spread whole wheat bread with avocado mixture. Make 5 sandwich stacks of 3 layers each, beginning with egg layer and covering with avocado layer and slice of white bread with mayonnaise. Wrap in waxed paper and cover with damp cloth. Chill until serving time. Slice each stack into 5 pieces. Makes 25.

Chicken Salad in Tomato Cup is ideal for a bride's shower accompanied by small assorted sandwiches. Everything can be prepared ahead and assembled at the last minute.

Shrimp Pinwheels

Half lb. cooked, peeled, cleaned shrimp or 1 (6 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.) can shrimp; lemon juice, pepper, mayonnaise to bind; 1 loaf unsliced white bread; mayonnaise; parsley sprigs.

Chop shrimp very fine, then season with lemon juice and pepper. Stir in enough mayonnaise to work into a paste. Trim crusts and cut 3 thin lengthwise slices from loaf.

Cut slices in half crosswise, then spread with additional mayonnaise and the shrimp mixture. Roll up each like a jelly roll. Place in pan lined with damp cloth, then with waxed paper. Cover and chill until serving. Cut each roll into 5 pinwheels. Garnish platter with parsley. Makes 3 dozen. These dainty sandwiches are fine for a tea party or cocktail gathering, even a wedding reception.

Strawberry Chiffon Dessert

One pint strawberries; 2/3 cups sugar divided; 1 env. unflavored gelatin; salt to taste; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk; $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. vanilla; 2 egg whites; 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Wash and hull strawberries. Mash them and sprinkle with 2 tbsps. sugar and reserve. Keep 4 tbsps. sugar to beat with egg whites. Mix together remaining sugar, gelatin and salt in saucepan. Stir in milk. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and add mashed berries. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Add 4 tbsps. sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture; fold in whipped cream. Turn a 6-cu. ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold, fill center with additional strawberries. The creamy smooth chiffon with its delicate pink cast is linked with wedding bells in cake-outs and in the decor with lily-of-the-valley bouquets.

Did you know that a number of special telephones have been developed for use by the physically handicapped? Today, speakerphones and headsets can be easily used by persons who are disabled and can't hold a receiver. For people who can't talk above a whisper, a special phone amplifies their voices.

If you know someone whose physical handicap keeps him from using his phone in the usual way, maybe we can help. Just call our Business Office and we'll see if a phone can be adapted to his special needs.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thorneburg, City Librarian

This library has a new map of California that is really great. It is very large, on a roller, and is mounted in the reference room. If you are planning a trip any place in this, our golden foggy state, by all means come down to consult this map. We need new maps of the entire world, as a whole and in pieces, but the cost is so prohibitive that we are looking for some we can afford. The old ones in the stacks are mainly historical by this time. Such as, if you want to know where Persia used to be, consult those maps. Would anyone like to give the library a thousand dollars for new maps? It is tax deductible, remember. Away from the fund raising and back to the books...

THE GIFT SHOP by Charlotte Armstrong is a chase story with real characters. Many of them are attractive and lovable. The story concerns the efforts of the younger son of an aging millionaire to find a small girl before she is harmed by a gang of ruthless criminals. Now small children and ruthless criminals are common to many thrillers, but these are different because they are brought to life by Miss Armstrong. You will admire Mama, who adopted seven children, and held them in perfect discipline through love. And by the time the book ends you will be more than a little in love with good old Harry Fairmont, just as Jean Cunliffe was. A good book.

P.G. Wodehouse has another novel, his 70th according to the book jacket. He has his devotees, who have probably read 69 and are waiting impatiently for this one. It is called THE PURLOINED PAPERWEIGHT. According to the jacket blurb, it is all Wodehouse and a yard wide. You be the judge. I stopped with number 6 in the list of 70.

H. Allen Smith was seen on the Today television show the other morning, selling his new book and being altogether charming all the while. The book is called SON OF RHUBARB. You remember good old Rhubarb, the cat who owned a baseball team and managed it himself. This book is about Rhubarb's son, and since nobody knew he HAD a son, there was a paternity trial and a lot of complications, because with a father as rich as Rhubarb was, there simply had to be legal aspects. So here is SON OF RHUBARB for a fun afternoon or evening.

the reader for THE PLOT by Irving Wallace. It concerns the intrigue, the plot and counter plot, behind an immense summit conference of all the great world powers: the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, and Red China. As heads of state gather for their conference, their aides, spies and counter spies, are on the outside, swirling in a dance of intrigue.

Let us leave the field of fiction for one last book of non-fiction which may be one to set people talking this summer. It is TREBLINKA by Jean-Francois Steiner, translated from the original French by Helen Weaver. Once again the reader is led to a concentration camp during the last war. This one was Treblinka, in Poland. After all these years the story of the uprising in Treblinka is told. There the Jews organized a revolt, and they won. It is said the "revolt of Treblinka emerges as an act beyond heroism - a deed of men who had to recreate their own humanity before they could take action." These were brave men with everything to gain or lose. TREBLINKA.

The children are coming in to register for the summer reading club. In the late summer there will be a series of story hours but not until after Mrs. Weiner, the Children's Librarian, is back from a short vacation. But all during the summer the reading club will be reading for fun and earning shells as they do so. Don't cheat your children out of belonging by forgetting to get them here for registration and a word of instruction as to how the club is run. Enroll any time. Reading is what's happening!!!

One of the signs of a complete gardener is his ability to apply a proper mulch at the proper time. The word "mulch," if our source of information is correct, was handed down from the Anglo-Saxons to imply something "soft, rotten, or mellow." Thus we deem it as a material placed on the surface, later to be turned under to decay and become part of the soil. There are almost as many reasons for mulching as there are kinds of mulch. Where summers are hot a mulch is essential for the preservation of soil moisture and to keep roots cool. Certain types of mulch can be used to discourage the sprouting of weed seeds. On sloping land mulching tends to check erosion. And there's nothing like a mulch to give flower beds a neat, attractive appearance.

We are partial to the various grades of fir bark, which can do all of the mulching jobs and provide a forest-like setting for ornamental plants. Once the weeds are removed from around a planting of juniper tams a layer of bark chunks can prove quite attractive while preventing further weed germination. Consider, too, the shallow-rooted camellia, which prefers a moist, yet well-drained situation. Or the clematis, which requires an insulation to keep its roots cool. And that applies to the heathers, azaleas and rhododendrons as well. All lilies should be protected by mulching during hot weather. Sweet peas and garden peas will improve gre-

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

School Year Grades

Three major publications, and high grades for the second semester, marked the closing efforts of both students and faculty for this school year. Successful...inspired...unusual...wild...might well describe many of these efforts:

SPYGLASS: The student yearbook, now in its biggest edition in history, was designed along classic lines by Editor-in-Chief Jerry Merksamer. Jerry's goal was to have a book of quality, from the startling cover of blue and gold, to the great use of white space and simple picture format. Special praise and mention should be given Ed Rowe who worked as assistant editor and will be editor next year. Will Haas, who was picture editor, also is due for the highest praise for his dependable performance, and often award winning pictures. Bringing the unique business section into focus was Taylor Grant and Pete Schreiter. The two top salesmen (and were they good) and incoming business managers are Mark Coffey and Mark Hornberger. Supervising copy preparation, and special thanks for this work, was English Department Head Charles Dillaway. Jerry and his staff can be justly proud of their efforts in creating an outstanding "history" book of the Stevenson School in its 15th year.

VIALIMA: Under the guidance of Editor-in-Chief Terry Talbot, a most unusual and creative literary magazine was developed this year, combining both outstanding prose and poetry, with some award winning pictures. Covering some 72 pages, largest in school history, with a most striking and original cover by Pete Stremmel, the book shows both imagination and quality in a black and white format. Special thanks from the staff and students is extended literary advisor Mr. Jerome Fenton. Charles Dillaway acted as judge for the merit of awards, a new innovation started by Terry. Staff members deserving mention include Seniors Mike Popovitch and Mason Phelps, plus incoming co-editors Jeff Klein and Jack Booth. They are also available for sale in a number of leading book stores in the Monterey-Carmel area. A critics review: "A rich and rewarding reading experience of high school writing -- college in quality and good enough to be commercial."

TUSITALA: Completing its most successful year as the student newspaper, the Tusitala arrived graduation morning for the students with a banner headline congratulating the Senior Class. It might well have included itself in that congratulations. Under the dedicated editorship of junior Phil Fleming, the paper came out in several editions and in two basic formats. Both papers showed excitement and imagination as the students experimented with formats, layouts and feature stories.

Special thanks for contributions during the year include the great sports and feature writing of Chris Wentworth; editorial advice by Joe Arsenio, business and advertising by Bruce Decker, and a host of by-lined articles. Incoming editors include Barry Nathan in sports, Ricky Karr for copy, William McCreery in advertising and Don Hauerken as circulation manager. Others of special help this year were photo contributors Will Haas, Grover Wickersham and Bill Winston, plus copy advisor Mrs. Betty Burr.

Back issues are available on request from the school.

FACULTY HONORS: Three students ended their second semester of work with a perfect 100.0 academic average for the highest number of such scores in the history of the school. In fact, never have there been more than one or two perfect scores in a semester in the past, while this year Arlen Chase went six full grading periods with 100.0, plus Terry Talbot had two. David Haynes rounded out this studious threesome by also finishing at the 100.0 level.

Some 84 boys made the Honor Roll this year, with 30 making the coveted Faculty Honors of 95.0 or better. This was also a new record for total number of boys so honored.

Again, with a great deal of pride, most student officers made the Honor Roll, a remarkable achievement in itself considering the great time they must devote to official duties. Retiring President and Vice President Larry Kuechler and Steve Barlow both made Faculty Honors, while both Claude Wynn, just missed 95.0 and John Cann (New Vice President) had a 96.0 average.

Congratulations to all the boys for their outstanding efforts, with special note to those who made Faculty Honors:

MEDICARE

by Raymond S. MacDonald

(Editor's Note: This column, beginning this week, is published in hopes that some of the many questions you might have concerning Medicare will be answered. The questions asked are from people who have written in to the Social Security Administration and the answers are by Raymond MacDonald, Social Security authority for the Peninsula. If you have any questions, please address the inquiry to P.O. Box G-1 Carmel.)

Q. My aunt who is 74 recently fell and broke her hip. She has been in the hospital for a week. Now her doctor says she has progressed enough to leave the hospital, but she is not well enough to go home. He is transferring her to a nursing home to convalesce. Will Medicare pay for my aunt's care in the nursing home?

A. Yes, if the nursing home is participating in medicare as an "extended care facility." Any skilled nursing home, a special part of a hospital set aside for extended care patients, or a skilled nursing wing of a home for the aged can qualify as an "extended care facility" if it meets the requirements and standards set forth in the law.

Under the hospital insurance part of Medicare, payments can be made for up to 100 days of post-hospital care in an "extended care facility." Medicare pays the bill for all covered services during the first 20 days, and all but $5 a day for the next 80 days. This extended care benefit is payable for people 65 and over who have been in the hospital for at least 3 days, and no longer need intensive hospital care, but still are in need of full-time skilled nursing care for the same condition that required their hospitalization or for a condition that developed during the hospital stay, and are transferred, on their doctor's order, to the extended care facility within 12 days of their hospital discharge.

atly once a proper mulch is applied to both sides of the row.

Finally, there's the ground cover mulch...used strictly for weed control. That's polyethylene film. This material comes in clear or black, and in several thicknesses. The 6-mil black poly serves best as a covering before laying down decorative bark or stones. This one is heavy enough to resist most punctures and light cannot penetrate to encourage weed growth. You might assess your mulching needs before we get to deep into summer and decide what form of protection you should provide for your plants. If you're interested in fern culture look in on us next week.

Sanitary District Board Meets

The Carmel Sanitary District Board of Directors at its regular meeting held in the office of the district on June 6th unanimously approved a budget for the 1967-1968 fiscal year of $113,550, thereby holding the line for Sanitary District taxes at .29 cents per $100 assessed valuation, the same as prevailed last year.

President H. C. Arnot stated that, although the District is growing considerably the additional cost is being borne by the developers. Also in view of the expanding growth of the district the Board authorized Kennedy Engineers, engineers for the district, to make a cost study and plan for secondary treatment facilities. This will entail a complete revision of the present plant.

AN ENCHANTED COTTAGE... WHERE DREAMS COME TRUE!

This picturesque home combines storybook charm with modern comfort, featuring those qualities that make it distinctively "Carmel-type" in atmosphere:

WE CAN'T HELP IT

The price is $33,000, the property is south of Ocean Ave. not far from the beach, the lot is 60'x100', and the improvements are old but neat and clean. We can't help it if the price is $33,000, but it is not far off from being realistic.

Timeless Traditional On Carmel Point

PERFECT FOR THE MANY MOODS OF CARMEL . . . Friendly wood fires in a handsome fireplace in a wood-paneled, gracious living room, or in the cozy kitchen for the misty days. Mullioned windows open to intimate little patios for enchanting "looking" when it's gloomy, and outdoor enjoyment when it's sunny, all enclosed by fine old stone walls which have taken on a lovely patina over the years.

IT'S A TWO-STORY, STORYBOOK HOUSE, ON A LARGE SCALE, built with Hugh Comstock's usual unusual attention to fine construction and infinite detail. The special taste and care in decorating by the present owners underscore all the mellow charm and graciousness of an earlier time. Charming country kitchen, yet every modern convenience is unobtrusively incorporated, and this is typical of the feeling in the entire house. It's just around the corner from the sea, so beach-walking is always your pleasure. (For that matter, just walking around Carmel Point itself is a special delight!)

There are too many interesting details in this fine home to list here. If traditional architecture is your fancy, and if the price is within your range, why not allow us the pleasure of showing you just what it has to offer. The price is $98,000.

Business Association

Holds Quarterly

Dinner Meeting

The June 15th Quarterly Dinner Meeting of the Carmel Business Association was a huge success. It was held in one of the beautiful banquet rooms of the new Holiday Inn of America at Carmel Valley Road and Highway One. Over 150 members and their wives attended. President Gus Johnson presided.

The guest speaker was Miss Ann Foley who told of how she traveled for a full month around the country on a Bank Americard. Vice President Charles McEwen called attention to the fact that the Carmel Business Association still does not have any office space and asked the members to consider ideas to remedy this situation.

Mr. Russ Harris, chairman of the Membership Committee, reported that the Association now has 274 members.

Mrs. Margaret Berry explained some of her plans as chairman of the Christmas Plans Retail Committee. She said that three prizes will be awarded for the best "Christmas Expression" interior shop design. This will be judged by visitors and residents. More will be reported later.

Many complimentary remarks were made about the cooperation of the Holiday Inn of America in this affair. Their manager, Mr. Dan Ponder, said they look forward to working with the Carmel merchants, and intend to bring a great many conventions catering to the higher bracket professionals. This should result in another assist to the business community.

done over the weekend in keeping law and order." He complimented all the work done by all the city departments.

Further action by the Council included the authorization of hiring a Department Clerk for the Public Works department as well as a Forestry Foreman City Forester and Forester/Climber to keep our city abounding with healthy forests.

Also approved was the retaining of a consultant to city administration resulting from a plea by the City Clerk Hugh Bayless for an assistant. Dr. Melvin J. Steckler will be available to all commissions, councilmen, and department heads to organize and give advice where the city can better bring into balance cost and benefits. Dr. Steckler will be retained by the city for a three month period to analyze the situation and work with the departments and later, for a year, to implement the desires of the City based on the analysis.

Cost to the City will be $4500 plus up to $500 expenses as opposed to the original request for an assistant city administrator which would cost about $9000. As Councilman Norberg pointed out, "We can use the advice and plans set forth by Dr. Steckler for years to come, whereas we could spend more for an assistant administrator on a yearly basis.
